

Upstairs, Downstairs: two shows, one night

Written by Lisa Annelouise Rentz
Tuesday, 08 November 2011 13:43

The Charles Street Gallery invites you to a celebration of new artwork.

Seven Lowcountry artists, with great international flair, fill the Charles Street Gallery in Beaufort SC with scenes of salt marshes, kayakers, horse paddocks, green rolling hills, Jordanian architecture, and French cabbage gardens. Join them for a reception and celebration of new work on Friday, November 18, 5pm-until the turkey gobble-gobbles.

Joan Templer fills the first floor gallery of the renovated home in historic downtown Beaufort. Her work is always grand, and can focus to bring a particular tonality to the viewer, or her canvas can open up into a wild neo-primordial scene from Africa. Her book, Joan's Eye, documents her career, and is also available.

Upstairs, Downstairs: two shows, one night

Written by Lisa Annelouise Rentz
Tuesday, 08 November 2011 13:43

Read more Art: becharlessmuelgallery.com