

Beaufort artist finds new inspiration beyond Bay Street. By Mark Shaffer

"Half of creating is waiting for something to dry."
– Deanna Bowdish

It's early on a quiet weekday morning at ARTworks in Beaufort Town Center. As the overheads flicker to life it's easy to pick out Deanna Bowdish's new studio space from the others. Towering over the threshold in giant mismatched letters are two simple words: ROCK ON. Anyone who knows Deanna recognizes her favorite conversational benediction. But that simple statement represents a philosophy of personal and creative perseverance that runs deep.
