

Boondocks Opens Starving Artist Market

Written by Editor

Tuesday, 30 June 2015 13:24

Boondocks restaurant at 1760 Sea Island Parkway, St. Helena, SC will be hosting The Starving Artist Market in its parking lot on Saturday mornings from 9 am to 1:30 pm.

The market started on Memorial Day Weekend and will be open every Saturday morning — weather permitting – through Labor Day weekend. Local artists will be selling original paintings, drawings, jewelry, photographs, wood burnings and other artistic creations.

Â

Boondocks Restaurant will be providing food and beverages for sale as well as music and cornhole. Their special offerings will be breakfast burritos, Bloody Marys and Mimosas. The market creates a festive and casual experience in which to enjoy great local art. There will be Art Demonstrations throughout the day and an occasional FREE ART giveaway. So come join the fun!

Any local fine artist who wishes to participate should call, Jim Torcum, at 843-592-4285 for more information.

Â