

What says South Carolina more than WATER and WOODS? This all-encompassing title is the theme for an exhibition of paintings in oil, acrylic, gouache, and pastel by Lowcountry artist Tom Van Steenbergh opening January 8th at the Beaufort Art Association Gallery.

Born and raised in New Jersey, Tom is an alumnus of the prestigious Cooper Union Art School in New York City. And it was in the City where he worked for 40 years as an Art Director for several top agencies, conceptualizing, designing and producing ads and commercials for such clients as Chemical Bank, Paine Webber, Crane Corporation, CF&I Steel, US Air Force, Guard and Reserve, Martin Marietta Aerospace, ITT Communications, Westinghouse Corporation, Forbes Magazine, Orrefors Crystal, Heineken Beer, Remy Martin, and Champagne Krug.

Now retired from advertising, Tom devotes his time and abilities to creating image of his adopted home, the Lowcountry of South Carolina.

As an active member and past president of the Beaufort Art Association, Tom has galleries, prints, etc. www.BeaufortArtAssociation.com for more information on sailing