

Beaufort Symphony Orchestra has something for everyone in their "Fa LaLaLaLa" Winter Holiday Concert at USCB Center for the Arts on Dec. 5 and 8. Maestro Fred Devyatkin has filled our musical stocking with Handel, Vivaldi and Tchaikovsky, topped it off with traditional Christmas and Hanukah songs, and then added a rousing finale of holiday sing-along favorites to rev up your holiday spirit!

The celebration will open with the Overture from one of the season's most iconic works, Handel's "Messiah." The "Sinfony" is one of only two purely instrumental movements composed for oboes and strings in the style of a French Overture popular during the Baroque period. Written in 1741, the music continues to awe and inspire musicians and audiences to this day.
