

Imani Milele, an African children's choir, is heading to Beaufort for a special performance called 'Rhythm of Hope.'

Imani Milele is a Ugandan phrase that means "everlasting faith." The organization by the same name – Imani Milele Children Inc. – is a registered nonprofit based in Uganda, working with rural communities especially affected by poverty, disease and ignorance. The organization was established in 1989 and currently serves over 3000 orphaned and vulnerable children, providing housing, education and skill training.
