

The Swingin' Medallions, known as, "The Party Band of the South," will perform here at the Jasper County Farmers Market Friday, June 9th.

Celebrated for their signature hit song, "Double Shot of My Baby's Love," which Bruce Springsteen once called, "The Greatest Fraternity Rock Song of All Time," the Swingin' Medallions are South Carolina bred from Greenwood. Their timeless high-octane style, features an ever-popular horn section. They have been energizing crowds at colleges, festivals, reunions and beach venues almost continuously since the 1960s. They blend the sounds of yesterday and today and this is their ninth summer-opening concert in Ridgeland.

"We love having the Swingin' Medallions return each year," said Kendall Malphrus, executive director of the sponsoring Jasper County Chamber of Commerce. "The band appeals to an amazingly broad age group from boomers to teenagers. They are true entertainers and electrify audiences like no other group. No true classic rock and roll fan will want to miss this concert!"

Concert goers can expect to hear "Double Shot," as well as the Medallions' hit singles "Hey Hey Baby," "She Drives Me Out of My Mind" as well as favorites like "Wooly Bully" and "Barefootin'" and other great hits from that era. The band continues to record new music, such as a favorite tune called, "Large Time."

"Gates at the Jasper County Farmers Market will open at 7:00 p.m., with the concert starting at 8:00 p.m.," said Malphrus. Advance admission is $15. Tickets purchased at the gate on concert night will be $20. Advance tickets may be purchased by calling the Jasper County
