

Lean Ensemble Theater takes another giant step in its BOLDEST season yet with a new production of the much-acclaimed Every Brilliant Thing, written by Duncan Macmillan with Jonny Donahoe.

Directed by Maegan Azar, the one-man show stars Lean Ensemble member Matt Mundy.

As Mundy bounds around the stage, he leads a witty and profound interactive “conversation” with the audience that both plumbs the depths and scales the heights of human experience.

What makes life worth living? The answers, he reveals, are both simple and profound: ice cream, roller coasters, water fights and... every other brilliant thing about the world.

This immersive and interactive one-man show will be set in “the round” in a new and intimate layout of SoundWaves. With only ninety-nine seats, no one will be more than two rows from the action.

The show runs seventy minutes. Join the talkback afterwards for questions and discussion with Matt Mundy and representatives from NAMI, the National Alliance on Mental Illness.

Performances are 7:30 pm on Dec 12-14 and Dec 19-21. Matinees 2 pm on Dec 15 and 22. T
