

Gunsmoke Over Pocotaligo

Written by Mark Shaffer

Tuesday, 13 January 2015 10:48

The Blue and Grey Clash Once More in Point South

Text and Photos by Mark Shaffer

In December 2012, re-enactors converged on Frampton Plantation (now called Point South) for a Sesquicentennial reenactment like no other.

The first recreation of The Battle of Pocotaligo would take place on the actual site of the original fight, making it an extremely rare event for all involved.

The actual battle took place on October 21, 1862 as 4400 Union troops sailed out of Hilton

Gunsmoke Over Pocotaligo

Written by Mark Shaffer

Tuesday, 13 January 2015 10:48

Read about the inaugural reenactment of the Battle of Pocotaligo here. View the event on YouTube.