

All Dressed Up

Written by Editor

Wednesday, 16 January 2013 08:32 - Last Updated Wednesday, 16 January 2013 14:14

Eliot Joanna Angell and Karen-Sam Norgard at USCB

There are an infinite variety of reasons why women love dresses and wear them for so many occasions. Some styles are daring, some avant-garde, some whimsical and some just downright practical. And they all run the gamut between beautiful and plain — but that assessment is highly subjective and totally dependent on the eye of the beholder.

Artists Eliot Joanna Angell and Karen-Sam Norgard will ask attendees to bring their collective "eye of the beholder" to the exhibit "All Dressed Up" at USCB Center for the Arts, running now thro

All Dressed Up

Written by Editor

Wednesday, 16 January 2013 08:32 - Last Updated Wednesday, 16 January 2013 14:14

Read more Art