

A Creative Collaboration

Written by Margaret Evans, Editor

Tuesday, 19 November 2013 13:37 - Last Updated Wednesday, 20 November 2013 08:40

Hidden in plain sight on the second story of the old Lipsitz building, the tenants of Atelier on Bay are sharing space, making art, and having a ball.

The first time I prepared to enter Atelier on Bay, it was raining so hard I couldn't read the name on their sign from my office stoop across the street. I remember huddling under the awning with my husband and daughter, debating whether to wait it out or make a run for it.

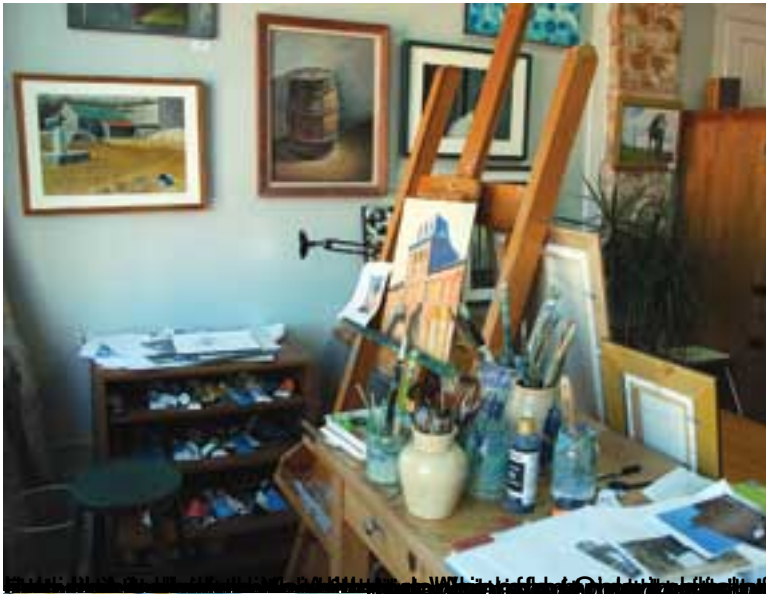

Eventually, as the blinding deluge continued with no end in sight, we pulled our jackets up over our heads and dashed across Bay Street like puddle-hopping maniacs. Through the door and up the stairs we bounded, tumbling into Atelier's Grand Opening reception with all the elegance and sophistication of a puppy in a bathtub.

Soggy and flustered, I recall handing my wet jacket to some kind soul, grabbing a much-nee

A Creative Collaboration

Written by Margaret Evans, Editor

Tuesday, 19 November 2013 13:37 - Last Updated Wednesday, 20 November 2013 08:40

A Creative Collaboration

Written by Margaret Evans, Editor

Tuesday, 19 November 2013 13:37 - Last Updated Wednesday, 20 November 2013 08:40

Read more Art

www.atelieronbay.com