

Beaufort Gets a Taste of Piccolo Spoleto

Written by Editor

Wednesday, 01 May 2019 10:40 - Last Updated Wednesday, 01 May 2019 10:59

The Holy City's loss was Beaufort's gain when Dr. Steve Rosenberg retired from his longtime position as Music Department chair at the College of Charleston and decided to move south.

"Living in Charleston, naturally I got to know Beaufort," he says. "And I always considered it the most amazing and beautiful town in the US. I was ready for a new chapter in my life, so I decided to retire here and contribute to the cultural life."

Born in New York City and educated in France, Rosenberg knows from culture. In college, he specialized in Early Music – medieval through Baroque – playing the recorder and other historical wind instruments. He toured the world playing with the renowned medieval music ensemble Les Menestriers, and is among a handful of experts in his field, internationally.

Rosenberg joined the faculty of the College of Charleston in 1985, where he formed the

Beaufort Gets a Taste of Piccolo Spoleto

Written by Editor

Wednesday, 01 May 2019 10:40 - Last Updated Wednesday, 01 May 2019 10:59

www.piccolospoleto.com