

Beaufort Stories Your Momma Never Told You

Written by Arlene Heape Hull

Monday, 03 June 2013 16:24 - Last Updated Tuesday, 04 June 2013 18:46

They're at it again! "The Three Unreliables," Harry Chakides, Steven Keyserling and Bernie Schein, are picking back up where their stories left off last year. Sit back, relax and let your mind wander as you listen to Harry talk about times at Harry's Tavern or hear Bernie tell you about when he asked his mother why his family didn't have "roots;" Steve will entertain you with stories of growing up in a house full of brothers and the trouble they could get themselves and each other into.

If you've really listened, you've travelled back in time with the three of them to a time when there was only one bridge in town, when local telephone numbers were only four digits, or even easier – you just told the operator who you wanted to talk to. You're back in a time when most of the streets in the Mossy Oaks subdivision were dirt roads, Beaufort Memorial Hospital was a little red brick building and Eagles didn't come from Beaufort High school but the Tidal Wave

Beaufort Stories Your Momma Never Told You

Written by Arlene Heape Hull

Monday, 03 June 2013 16:24 - Last Updated Tuesday, 04 June 2013 18:46

Read more Local Color