

The Spaghetti Club

Written by Mark Shaffer

Wednesday, 26 March 2014 06:28 - Last Updated Wednesday, 26 March 2014 06:57

The Moveable Feast gang finds that membership has its privileges...

Story & photos by Mark Shaffer

Let's cut to the chase. Right now you're wondering, "So how's the spaghetti at the Spaghetti Club?" It's the obvious question. The short answer is assolutamente fantastico, un lavoro d'amore.

And as my colleagues noted many, many times during this meal, both the meatballs and the Alfredo Sauce are "to die for." To. Die. For. But we'll get to that.

Owners Larry Naylor and Leo Gannon took their own sweet time incubating their new Habersham hotspot. They first looked for a tenant to take over the space and when that didn't happen they decided to go it on their own.

"Everyone we talked to including our accountants told us we were crazy to do it. So, naturally, we did it," says Naylor.

God bless the crazy ones.

The Spaghetti Club

Written by Mark Shaffer

Wednesday, 26 March 2014 06:28 - Last Updated Wednesday, 26 March 2014 06:57

The Spaghetti Club

Written by Mark Shaffer

Wednesday, 26 March 2014 06:28 - Last Updated Wednesday, 26 March 2014 06:57

Read more: The Spaghetti Club - The Spaghetti Club is a delicious and healthy meal that can be made in a variety of ways. It's a great way to get your daily dose of protein and fiber, and it's also a great way to get your daily dose of calcium and iron.

Read more: The Spaghetti Club - The Spaghetti Club is a delicious and healthy meal that can be made in a variety of ways. It's a great way to get your daily dose of protein and fiber, and it's also a great way to get your daily dose of calcium and iron.