

A Creative Conference at the Beach

Written by Editor

Tuesday, 11 August 2015 14:02 - Last Updated Wednesday, 12 August 2015 07:11

Attention, Lowcountry creative professionals! Harbormark, curator of inspiring experiences for creatives and makers, has announced the inaugural

REVOLVE

Conference, featuring Design/UX, Marketing and Business career tracks, hosted at an exquisite oceanfront resort near you.

Intrigued yet? You should be. Mark your calendars for October 29-30, 2015 and join a group of your fellow creatives at Charleston's beautiful Wild Dunes Resort for REVOLVE, the flagship event for those striving to make an impact in the creative industry.

REVOLVE will bring together over twenty dynamic speakers from around the country, all at the top of their game in user experience, design, marketing, business operations, digital project management and content strategy. The speaker roster is being steadily unveiled on the

REVOLVE
website

and social media. Eighteen speakers have already been revealed, including thought leaders from top-notch companies like Facebook, Mailchimp, and more.

REVOLVE will be much more than just another conference," says Karl Hudson Phillips, conference organizer. "Bring your curiosity, your appetite for Southern cooking and your desire for a good time."

A Creative Conference at the Beach

Written by Editor

Tuesday, 11 August 2015 14:02 - Last Updated Wednesday, 12 August 2015 07:11

The event will include uplifting keynote talks, and topic specific sessions, in an atmosphere steeped in Southern hospitality and charm. The mid-event, 'Party on the Pavilion ' at Wild Dunes' Grand Pavilion, will afford attendees the opportunity to 'rub shoulders' with not only conference speakers, but also with creatives from the Charleston area and beyond. It will be the ideal forum for extending your creative network, and will set the stage for easier interactions on Day 2 of the conference.

"The conference was strategically scheduled to allow attendees to escape the four walls of the office while adding value to their skill sets, and give out of town guests the opportunity to enjoy an extended stay in the Charleston area," says Phillips.

Early Bird tickets are available through the end of August, so act now! For more information on the REVOLVE Conference, new additions to the speaker roster, and to register, visit www.revolvconference.com