

The Seasons wax and wane. We all have our favorites. Start this year's Holiday Season with the oldest non-traditional musical chorale. Come join the Lowcountry Chorale in a celebration of the Four Seasons (and we don't mean The Jersey Boys).

The Fall Lowcountry Chorale Concert will be performed at St. John's Lutheran Church on Lady's Island November 21 and 22, 2014. Dessert will be served. Performances will be at 7PM Friday, and 3PM Saturday, respectively. The theme is "SEASONS." The Chorale will take you on a musical adventure from Spring right through the Winter Solstice with all the merriment that we enjoy seasonally. We will provide a musical enticement for all tastes with rocking Beach Boys, inspirational spirituals, some blues and jazz and a very contemporary surprise.

The Lowcountry Chorale is a 30 plus member chorus of local singers, a noted director and accomplished piano accompanist. Nearly 20 years in the making LCC is now under the direction of its third baton, Alan Latham. Gloria Bockeman has tickled the ivories since 2007. A non-audition group, The Lowcountry Chorale excels in blending the SATB format into one exceptional voice. Each performance exceeds the previous and the sound is one that any lover of music should not miss.
