

The Ghost of... Charles Dickens?

Written by

Wednesday, 08 December 2010 11:01

Ring in the holiday season with storyteller Tim Lowry's one-man performance of Charles Dickens' A Christmas Carol, on Friday, December 10th at 6 p.m. at the Beaufort Branch Library. This one-of-a-kind holiday production is performed in the style of Mr. Dickens himself, using a variety of voices, presenting a parade of amusing characters, and displaying a wide range of emotion with witty, tongue-in-cheek delivery. In this traditional retelling, audiences can rediscover their Christmas spirit as the ghosts of Christmas Past, Present and Future guide the miserly Ebenezer Scrooge on a classic journey of memory and redemption. Bring the whole family to attend this free holiday event! No tickets or reservations are required.

Tim Lowry is recognized as an all-American storyteller, telling stories "of the People, by the People and for the People" for more than twenty years. His repertoire includes stories from American history, folk tales from around the world, Bible stories and original works. Tim is a member of the North Carolina Storytelling Guild and the National and South Carolina Storytelling Networks.

For questions regarding the events listed above, please contact Amanda Brewer at 255-6439 or by email at abrewer@bcgov.net.

Read more Theater